Looking for recipes that use fresh garden ingredients? Looking for great tasting recipes without the salt, sugar and preservatives? Packaged foods upset my stomach and are too salty-how can I cook with fresh, seasonal alternatives? While clean eating may seem like the latest trend in dieting, it is the way most people ate before the industrial age and the advent of processed, sugary, processed foods. Clean eating is essentially removing preserved, process foods from your diet, limiting sugar and salt, and replacing all these foods with whole grains, fruits and vegetables and simple proteins like lean meats and beans. The intent of the diet is to replace foods we know are difficult to digest or trigger common conditions such as IBS, water retention or weight gain, with foods we know to be both easy on the body while giving you the nutrients and energy you need to move through life. Discover ways to clean your body through what you eat. Naturally feel lighter, smarter and stronger without crash dieting or drastic detoxing.
