By Deborah Turrell Atkinson

Poisoned Pen Press, United States, 2012. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 208 x 132 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book. Praise for The Green Room This tale will remind you of classic mysteries, blending detective work and adventure-this time, into the extreme sport world of competitive big wave surfing. -Jan Burke, award-winning author of the Irene Kelly mysteries Peppered throughout with surfing terms, Hawaiian dialect, and gorgeous descriptions of Oahu's North Shore. -- Publishers Weekly Lawyer Storm Kayama needs to build her clientele. So when surf promoter Marty Barstow's wife, Stephanie, walks into her office, Storm agrees to represent her. And when Stephanie's son Ben-a promising surfer-invites her to Oahu's North Shore to watch a surfing contest, Storm jumps at the chance. Besides, her distant cousin Nahoia Pili'ani will also compete. But when a child delivers a package to Nahoia containing an ancient Hawaiian weapon, Storm recognizes the lei o mano. It's a threat, a call to battle. Soon, as if she were in the green room-the underwater space where tons of churning water can imprison a surfer-Storm is buffeted and disoriented by local legend, greed, and cutthroat competition. She must finally confront...
