Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.Excerpt from The Problem of Prayer and the Death of President Garfield The efficacy of prayer has been made a prominent subject of thought during the past Summer. The assault upon President Garfield opened up a new and strong chapter in the experience of the church, the nation and the civilized and Christian world. So far as I know, I am the only minister who saw and spoke with him after he was shot. Several versions of it have been published, but they were made up of bits of rumor, according to the fancy of their authors. I have nothing to do with them. On the day of the funeral of the President I was in Catskill, N. Y. At a Union Memorial Service held in the Presbyterian Church of that place, I was requested to address the audience, and there for the first time made a written statement of the occurrence, which statement, as preliminary to our present topic I now give to you. I was not sent for by any one to visit the President...
